

WorkDone.Works – retirement preparation for companies and their employees

[city, date] – WorkDone.Works presents an innovative employee benefit that supports employees in preparing comprehensively and individually for retirement. The offer consists of a presence seminar accompanied by experienced seminar leaders, a profound online course developed by qualified specialist staff, and personal individual advice for the various areas of life.

With a view to demographic change and the growing need for sustainable solutions in personnel development, WorkDone.Works has developed an innovative concept for retirement preparation. The content was developed in collaboration with experienced specialist staff and committed people who are themselves in the transition phase to retirement. Their perspectives, experiences and specialist knowledge flowed into the development with great passion - with the aim of providing practical impulses and enabling sustainable changes.

The goal: To support companies in preparing their employees for retirement early, individually and holistically - and thus not only strengthen their quality of life, but also achieve long-term positive effects for the company itself.

Highlights of WorkDone.Works:

- Personal added value: Employees receive valuable support and inspiration on how they can make their final phase of life active and fulfilling - in all areas of life. In addition to economic aspects, personal, health and social needs are taken into account in order to enable a holistic transition into retirement.
- Economic added value: Companies benefit from the increased satisfaction and motivation of their employees in the phase before they leave the company. This leads to less downtime, higher productivity, active sharing of experience and an increased recommendation rate.
- Social added value: Through targeted retirement preparation, WorkDone.Works helps to counteract the generational conflict by promoting exchange and mutual understanding between different age groups.

WorkDone.Works is now available to B2B customers and offers options to support companies in their HR strategy. Further information can be found on the website at www.workdone.works.
